

Hurworth School Data Protection Policy

Accepted by: Board of Directors July 2017
Senior Leadership Team Lead Reviewer: Assistant Head Teacher
Review Cycle: 1 year
Date for next review: July 2018

Introduction

The Data Protection Act 1998 is the law that protects personal privacy and upholds an individual's rights. It applies to anyone who handles or has access to people's personal data.

This policy is intended to ensure that personal information is dealt with properly and securely and in accordance with the Data Protection Act. It will apply to information regardless of the way it is used, recorded and stored and whether it is held in paper files or electronically.

Scope of the Policy

Personal information is any information that relates to a living individual who can be identified from that data. Personal data includes (but is not limited to) an individual's, name, address, date of birth, bank details and other information that identifies them. This includes any expression of opinion about an individual and intentions towards an individual. It also applies to personal data held visually in photographs or video clips (including CCTV) or as sound recordings.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the following policies:

- IT Acceptable User Policy
- Freedom of Information Policy (to be implemented asap)
- Code of Conduct for school employees Policy
- E-Safety Policy
- Confidential Reporting Policy
- Safeguarding Policy

Hurworth School collects and uses personal information (referred to in the Data Protection Act as personal data) about staff, pupils, parents and other individuals who come into contact with Hurworth School. This information is gathered in order to enable the provision of education and other associated functions. In addition, it may be required by law to collect and use certain types of information to comply with statutory obligations of Local Authorities (LAs), government agencies and other bodies.

The Eight Principles

The Act is based on eight data protection principles, or rules for 'good information handling'.

1. Data must be processed fairly and lawfully.
2. Personal data shall be obtained only for one or more specific and lawful purposes.
3. Personal data shall be adequate, relevant and not excessive in relation to the purpose(s) for which they are processed.
4. Personal data shall be accurate and where necessary kept up to date.
5. Personal data processed for any purpose(s) shall not be kept for longer than is necessary for that purpose.

6. Personal data shall be processed in accordance with the rights of data subjects under the 1998 Data Protection Act.
7. Appropriate technical and organisational measures shall be taken against unauthorised or unlawful processing of personal data and against accidental loss or destruction of, or damage to, personal data.
8. Personal data shall not be transferred to a country outside the EEA (European Economic Area), unless that country or territory ensures an adequate level of protection for the rights and freedoms of data subjects in relation to the processing of personal data.

Responsibilities

Hurworth School must:

- Manage and process personal data properly
- Protect the individual's right to privacy
- Provide an individual with access to all personal data held on them.

Hurworth School has a legal responsibility to comply with the Act. Hurworth School, as a corporate body, is named as the Data Controller under the Act. Data Controllers are people or organisations who hold and use personal information. They decide how and why the information is used and have a responsibility to establish workplace practices and policies that are in line with the Act.

Hurworth School is required to 'notify' the Information Commissioner of the processing of personal data. This information will be included in a public register which is available on the Information Commissioner's website under ICO Register of Data Controllers. Every member of staff that holds personal information has to comply with the Act when managing that information.

Hurworth School is committed to maintaining the eight principles at all times. This means that Hurworth School will:

- Inform Data Subjects why they need their personal information, how they will use it and with whom it may be shared. This is known as a Privacy Notice (see Appendix 1 & 2)
- Check the quality and accuracy of the information held
- Apply records management procedures to ensure that information is not held longer than is necessary
- Ensure that when information is authorised for disposal it is done so appropriately
- Ensure appropriate security measures are in place to safeguard personal information whether that is held in paper files or on a computer system
- Only share personal information with others when it is necessary and legally appropriate to do so
- Set out clear procedures for responding to requests for access to personal information known as subject access in the Data Protection Act
- Appraise staff so that they are aware of their responsibilities and of Hurworth Schools relevant policies and procedures

Subject Access / Subject Information Requests (SAR)

Any person whose details are held/processed by the school (data subjects) have a general right to receive a copy of their own information. There are a few exceptions to this rule, such as data held for child protection or crime detection/prevention purposes. Please refer to ICO Data Protection Act 1988 Exemptions on the ICO website.

Hurworth School will respond in writing to requests for access to pupil educational records within 15 school days. The statutory definition of an 'education record' has a wide meaning and includes most information about current and past pupils that is processed by or on behalf of the school. However, information kept by a teacher solely for their own use does not form part of the educational record. It is likely that most of the personal information a school holds about a particular pupil will form part of the pupil's educational record. However, it is possible that some of the information could fall outside the educational record e.g. information about the pupil provided by the parent of another child is not part of the educational record.

If the SAR does not relate to any information that forms part of the educational record, then the usual 40-day time limit as prescribed by the Data Protection Act will apply. Hurworth School may make a charge of up to £10 for responding to a subject access request and up to £50 (on a sliding scale for photocopying charges) for access to a pupil's educational record. A copy of the scale of charges is set out below:

Number of pages of information supplied:
Maximum fees

1-19	£1	70-79	£7	250-299	£25
20-29	£2	80-89	£8	300-349	£30
30-39	£3	90-99	£9	350-399	£35
40-49	£4	100-149	£10	400-449	£40
50-59	£5	150-199	£15	450-499	£45
60-69	£6	200-249	£20	500+	£50

The time limit for responding to a SAR does not start until the fee has been received. If a fee is payable but has not been sent with the request, you should contact the individual promptly and inform them that they need to pay.

Hurworth School's policy for dealing with requests for subject access in respect of a pupil is as follows:

1. Requests from parents / legal guardians in respect of their own child will, provided that the child does not understand the nature of the subject access requests, be processed as requests made on behalf of the data subject (child)
2. Requests from pupils who do not understand the nature of the request will be referred to the child's parents.
3. Requests from pupils who demonstrate an understanding of the request will be processed as any subject access request as outlined below:
 - i. The Head Teacher (or authorised person acting on his/her behalf) will make the judgment about whether a child has the necessary level of understanding, and will seek guidance from the Data Protection Officer in the event of a dispute. See Appendix 3 for more detail
 - ii. A subject access / information request, although not compulsory, should be submitted on the appropriate forms wherever possible to ensure that the school has the required information to be able to conduct the data search and fulfil the request (Appendix 4). The person making the request should be made aware that this is not compulsory and it must not be used as a way of extending the 40-day time limit for responding.

- iii. Where information is not available from Hurworth School but is processed by another organisation, for example, the Local Authority, the requests will be directed to that organisation.
- iv. In some cases, especially with requests not submitted on the appropriate forms, further information may be required from the requester which may delay the start of the 40 day maximum period.
- v. Repeat requests will be fulfilled unless deemed unreasonable, such as second request received so soon after the first that it would be impossible for the details to have changed.

Complaints and Appeals

If Hurworth School /School decline your Subject Access Request and you do not accept our reasons for declining to disclose the information requested you should write to the Chair of the Board of Directors at Hurworth School in the first instance. Protection of Biometric Information of Children in Schools

Biometric data means personal information about an individual's physical or behavioural characteristics that can be used to identify that person; this can include their fingerprints, facial shape, retina and iris patterns, and hand measurements. The Information Commissioner considers all biometric information to be personal data as defined by the Data Protection Act 1998; this means that it must be obtained, used and stored in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Key points in relation to Biometric data:

Hurworth School will ensure that each parent of a child is notified of the school's intention to use the child's biometric data as part of an automated biometric recognition system. The written consent of at least one parent must be obtained before the data is taken from the child and used. This applies to all pupils under the age of 18. In no circumstances can a child's biometric data be processed without written consent.

Hurworth School will not process the biometric data of a pupil (under 18 years of age) where:

1. The child (whether verbally or non-verbally) objects or refuses to participate in the processing of their biometric data;
2. No parent has consented in writing to the processing; or
3. A parent has objected in writing to such processing, even if another parent has given written consent.

Hurworth School will provide reasonable alternative means of accessing services for those pupils who will not be using an automated biometric recognition system.

Cloud (Educational Apps) Software Services and the Data Protection Act 1998

The key areas that Hurworth School is required to address in respect to Cloud services under the Data Protection Act (DPA) are:

- Compliance with overarching legal requirements
- Data processing

- Data confidentiality
- Data integrity
- Service availability
- Data transfers beyond the European Economic Area (EEA)
- Use of advertising

Hurworth School has a duty to explain to staff and pupils what personal data would be collected, how it will be used and by whom, and what control they have over the use of their data in this way.

Cloud Computing

Hurworth School as data controller, has a responsibility to ensure that the processing carried out by their cloud service provider complies with the Data Protection Act. Hurworth School will ensure that a contract and a data processing agreement is in place.

Data Confidentiality

When choosing a cloud service provider Hurworth School will select a data processor providing sufficient guarantees about the technical and organisational security measures governing the processing to be carried out, and will take reasonable steps to ensure compliance with those measures.

Record Management

Hurworth School has a duty to retain some staff and student personal data for a period of time following their departure from the School, mainly for legal reasons, but also for other purposes such as being able to provide references or academic transcripts. Different categories of data will be retained for different periods of time.

Staff Awareness

Staff are made aware of the Data Protection Act 1998 through this policy.

Policy Review

Hurworth School will review this policy on an annual basis and ensure that school practice is in line with this policy by developing and implementing robust quality assurance processes.

Conclusion

Compliance with the 1998 Act is the responsibility of all members of Hurworth School. Any deliberate breach of the Data Protection Policy may lead to disciplinary action being taken, or even to a criminal prosecution. This policy will be updated as necessary to reflect best practice or amendments made to the Data Protection Act 1998.

Data Privacy Notice - Students

Data Protection Act 1998: How we use pupil information

We collect and hold personal information relating to our pupils and may also receive information about them from their previous school, local authority and/or the Department for Education (DfE). We use this personal data to:

- support our pupils' learning
- monitor and report on their progress
- provide appropriate pastoral care; and
- assess the quality of our services

This information will include their contact details, national curriculum assessment results, attendance information, any exclusion information, where they go after they leave us and personal characteristics such as their ethnic group, any special educational needs they may have as well as relevant medical information. For pupils enrolling for post 14 qualifications, the Learning Records Service will give us the unique learner number (ULN) and may also give us details about your learning or qualifications.

Once our pupils reach the age of 13, the law requires us to pass on certain information to Darlington Borough Council Youth Support Services who have responsibilities in relation to the education or training of 13-19 year olds. We may also share certain personal data relating to children aged 16 and over with post-16 education and training providers in order to secure appropriate services for them. A parent/guardian can request that only their child's name, address and date of birth be passed to Darlington Borough Council Youth Support Services by informing Mrs M Hall, School Manager, Hurworth School. This right is transferred to the child once he/she reaches the age 16. For more information about services for young people, please go to our local authority website <http://www.darlington.gov.uk/education-and-learning/click/>

We may also share data with post 16 providers to secure appropriate entry to post 16 provision. For more information about young people's services, please go to the National Careers Service page at <https://nationalcareersservice.direct.gov.uk/>

We will not give information about our pupils to anyone without your consent unless the law and our policies allow us to do so. If you want to receive a copy of the information about your son/daughter that we hold, please contact: Mrs M Hall, School Manager, Hurworth School. We will also pass information to the school nursing service for their vaccination programmes.

We are required, by law, to pass some information about our pupils to the Department for Education (DfE). This information will, in turn, then be made available for use by the LA.

DfE may also share pupil level personal data that we supply to them, with third parties. This will only take place where legislation allows it to do so and it is in compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Decisions on whether DfE releases this personal data to third parties are subject to a robust approval process and are based on a detailed assessment of who is requesting the data, the purpose for which it is required, the level and sensitivity of data requested and the arrangements in place to store and handle the data. To be granted access to pupil level data, requestors must comply with strict terms and conditions covering the confidentiality and handling of data, security arrangements and retention and use of the data.

Requests for information about children

Even if a child is too young to understand the implications of subject access rights, data about them is still their personal data and does not belong to anyone else, such as a parent or guardian. So it is the child who has a right of access to the information held about them, even though in the case of young children these rights are likely to be exercised by those with parental responsibility for them.

Before responding to a SAR for information held about a child, you should consider whether the child is mature enough to understand their rights. If you are confident that the child can understand their rights, then you should respond to the child rather than the parent. What matters is that the child is able to understand (in broad terms) what it means to make a SAR and how to interpret the information they receive as a result of doing so.

When considering borderline cases, you should take into account, among other things:

- where possible, the child's level of maturity and their ability to make decisions like this
- the nature of the personal data
- any court orders relating to parental access or responsibility that may apply
- any duty of confidence owed to the child or young person
- any consequences of allowing those with parental responsibility access to the child's or young person's information. This is particularly important if there have been allegations of abuse or ill treatment
- any detriment to the child or young person if individuals with parental responsibility cannot access this information
- any views the child or young person has on whether their parents should have access to information about them.

Important Information

Personal data is information which relates to an identifiable living individual that is processed as data. Processing means collecting, using, disclosing, retaining, or disposing of information. The data protection principles apply to all information held electronically or in structured files that tells you something about an identifiable living individual. The principles also extend to all information in education records. Examples would be names of staff and pupils, dates of birth, addresses, national insurance numbers, school marks, medical information, exam results, SEN assessments and staff development reviews

Sensitive personal data is information that relates to race and ethnicity, political opinions, religious beliefs, membership of trade unions, physical or mental health, sexuality and criminal offences

The difference between processing personal data and sensitive personal data is that there are greater legal restrictions on the latter

Data Protection Act – Do's and Don'ts

(This guidance is for all staff members, volunteers and individuals working in school)

DO

- Remember the Data Protection Act applies to personal information held in paper files, as well as to information held electronically, video, audiotapes and photographs
- Remember to keep all materials that identify students or staff confidential – this is particularly important with information such as sensitive data concerning: race, political opinion, religious belief, trade union membership, physical or mental health, sexual life, criminal offences
- Treat personal data held about individuals as though it were held about you
- Obtain permission from data subject to hold their personal data unless consent is obviously implied
- Be open and tell people you hold personal data about them and why
- Hold personal data about people only when necessary
- Ensure personal data is kept accurate and up to date
- Ensure that you have a contract (data processing agreement) in place when sharing personal data with other organisations
- Be extremely careful about passing personal data to third parties (seek advice if unsure).
- Respect confidentiality and the rights of the data subject
- Refuse requests from family or friends for information about a student or colleague, unless prior written permission has been received from the student
- Remember to check whether students can have their photographs taken, this also applies to images on the school website – this information is on the student's SIMS record and clarification can be sought from the School Manager
- Remember if you are asked for contact information from parents, external agencies, the correct procedure is to take their number and then clarify if you have permission to share this information – if consent is agreed then school will return the call - we do not give other peoples details to parents
- Remember when leaving answer messages particularly on mobile phones, leave contact details and ask them to return your call
- Ensure that all personal data is kept secure, not only from unauthorised access, but from fire and other hazards. Apply password protection to computers, tablets, screensavers and documents. Where possible keep your office door locked and your desk clear of personal data when you are absent and lock computers
- Ensure all personal data is disposed of as confidential waste
- When writing documents and emails, even informally, bear in mind that the data subject has a right to see information relating to them
- Be vigilant if undertaking work off-site using personal data (e.g. research data, reference requests or examination scripts/results)
- Where possible, anonymise personal data for research purposes
- Use appropriate measures for disposal of confidential information.
- Remember all portable electronic devices should be kept as securely as possible on and off school premises. If they contain personal information, they should be kept under lock and key when not in use. In addition to being financially prudent, this is also legally required if they hold personal information that could be considered confidential

- Report immediately any accidental or deliberate release of personal information to the Data Protection Officer

Data Protection Act – Do's and Don'ts

(This guidance is for all staff members, volunteers and individuals working in school)

DON'T

- Disclose any information (including giving references) about an individual to an external organisation without first checking that the individual consents to such disclosure, or, in the case of the police, checking with the Data Protection Officer
- Do not share information with others unless it is necessary – this includes passing information about students to other students or parents
- Disclose any personal data over the telephone
- Hold sensitive data about a person without explicit consent or advice from the Data Protection Officer
- Put personal data about an individual on the Internet or in social media without their permission, unless it is a condition of their employment as a member of staff or enrolment as a student.
- Send personal data outside the European Economic Area without taking advice from the Data Protection Officer
- Leave personal data insecure in any way, whether it is physical files or information held electronically. For example do not leave information on your computer screens that may identify students or staff
- Take personal data home without particular care for security
- Process personal data on a computer not owned or supplied by Hurworth School
- Dispose of Trust computers without advice on the deletion of data from the IOC
- Use email for sending confidential communications or unencrypted personal data, as it is relatively insecure
- Use personal data held for one purpose for a different purpose without permission from the data subject
- Write any comment about any individual that is unfair or untrue and that you would not be able to defend if challenged. You must assume that anything that you write about a person, even in informal e-mails, may be seen by that person
- Do not have displays in your classrooms that can identify any particular student
- Under any circumstances, erase or alter data following the receipt of a Subject Access Request
